DALI IKON 6's Receive RAVE Review in Stereophile - July 2006

This month's issue of Stereophile unleashes another in a long list of sparkling reviews for the IKON 6 (see the full collection at www.dali-usa.com).

Robert J. Reina, one of Stereophile's most respected reviewers, expressed unbridled delight at the stellar performance of the IKON 6's. Some quotes:

"I was immediately captivated by the IKON 6's rich, detailed, holographic presentation of just about every vocal CD I played".

"The IKON 6's unusual tweeter array reproduced detailed and extended high frequencies with no touch of bite or harshness."

"Ray Brown's bass solos on Sonny Rollins' Way Out West were completely uncolored in the middle and upper regions of his instrument's range".

"I was also impressed with the IKON 6's soundstaging. Playing well-recorded classical works, the speakers "disappeared".

The delicate, low-level percussion textures were easy to discern, with appropriate dynamic contrasts. My notes: "The stage!!!"

"Orchestra works showed off the IKON 6's high-level dynamic capabilities. The loudest portions of Antal Dorati's The Firebird breathed like a live performance."

Summing Up:

"In the IKON 6, DALI has produced a visually attractive loudspeaker that has very few shortcomings and is a captivating performer over a wide range of musical material. At $1595/pair, the IKON is a superb value - I recommend it to anyone considering buying a floorstanding speaker for under $2,000/pair. Well done, DALI. I look forward to hearing more of your designs." - Robert J. Reina, Stereophile, July 2006
